

WOMEN IN LEADERSHIP AT WORKPLACE: A NEW HRD INITIATIVE

MS. POOJA GAUR

FARIDABAD, HARYANA (INDIA).

ABSTRACT

Traditionally, it was believed that women cannot be good leaders. But, now it is proved that women have all the qualities like hardship, strong will, intelligence quotient and all the traits that are required to become a good leader. Now many women around the world get leadership position in corporate sector as well as political sector. In this paper, efforts have been made to find out the position of woman leaders in India and world. This paper also shows India's rank in the Global gender equality index and show comparison with other countries.

KEY WORDS: - Women leadership, Global gender equality index, Gender gap index.
