

IMPROVED SERVICE DELIVERY IN INDIAN HOSPITALS THROUGH PUBLIC PRIVATE PARTNERSHIP

RAMESH KUMAR*, NARESH KUMAR

*RESEARCH SCHOLAR,
DEPARTMENT OF MANAGEMENT STUDIES,
INDIAN SCHOOL OF MINES, DHANBAD

STUDENT,
SCHOOL OF MANAGEMENT,
NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY,
WARANGAL

ABSTRACT:

Healthcare is changing and so is the Healthcare Services Delivery system. Expectations from patients have increased a lot & they want better services from Healthcare Professionals all the time. They want Healthcare Professionals to devote more time to Patient Care rather than just providing the services. As a result to meet these kinds of expectations of such large populations, more & more Hospitals need to be started with Public Private Partnership which will help to meet this gap. This partnership shall help in bringing more Hospitals at different locations and shall meet the requirements set out from the patients, at the same time there will be an increase in Healthcare professionals who can focus on enhancing better services.

KEY WORDS: Healthcare, Patient Care, Public Private Partnership
