ABSTRACT

Welfare is the provision of a minimal level of well-being and social support for all citizens, sometimes referred to as public aid. The goal of welfare varies, as it looks to promote the pursuance of work, education or, in some instances a better standard of living. In case of War martyrs families the welfare measures are much essential to fulfil the needs and necessities of the dependents and the family members of the deceased soldiers. The government is taking care of its soldiers from the time of its inception. The government is committed to helping its brave soldiers and their families by floating a number of welfare schemes for them, in lieu of their services both the central and state government looks after its soldiers and their dependents. The present study aimed at investigating the awareness level of War martyrs families on basic welfare schemes and facilities in Kodagu district of Karnataka state, only the basic welfare schemes and facilities which are in reach of the families are been dealt in this article.
